SOARING SURFERS SPIRIT

One of the largest residential apartment towers to ever grace the Gold Coast has launched, with the $1.2 billion Spirit in the heart of Surfers Paradise now open to the global market. International architect DBI, responsible for the likes of Etihad Towers in Dubai, Oracle in Broadbeach and Palazzo Versace in Main Beach, designed the 89-level super tower now standing at Australia's third tallest residential tower at 303 metres above sea level, developed by Foriseland. Upon completion, Spirit will be populated by high-end retail and fine dining restaurants, and is aiming to attract a strong cohort of affluent international tourists. Additional luxury pay-per-use services will be available to residents, including car washing and detailing, babysitting, newspaper deliveries, pet vacation care and grooming. Butlers will be available to apartments upon request, as well as personal grocery shopping and flower arrangement deliveries. The rooftop level of Spirit offers residents panoramic views of 52 kilometres of Gold Coast coastline and boasts pools, bars, a cocktail lounge, banquet room and an extravagant wine and champagne cellar.
